2017 HUNT REPORT

www.ravensthroat.com

WOW!! That's all I can say. Wow...

What a ride after two years of ups and downs, negotiations and re-negotiations. It happened - Raven's Throat Outfitters was born. A lifelong dream came true. We are still in awe of our first year operating in the MacKenzie Mountains. We've been blessed in so many ways it's hard to count.

First, the incredible opportunity to share and be a steward of this incredible concession in the heart of historic Sahtu and Dehcho native lands; we can't thank them enough and can only promise to protect and honor this special place. Second, our incredible crew. Without their dedication, their astounding hard work, commitment to our team and creating a family that shares the love of this land and profession as much as we do, none of our success would have been possible. We thank them for their tireless efforts and look forward to many years together. To our clients, who make it all possible for without them we aren't doing what we love to do. We had such an amazing group of hunters. They all appreciated not only the animals in this beautiful country, but the country, the hunt, each other and our efforts. They could all come back every year and we would all be set for life.

The back bone of these very remote and huge areas is aviation. We were so lucky to get hooked up with Trans North Helicopters. The equipment and pilots were top notch in every way. Our two pilots were not only great in the air, but tremendous help in and around camp. Thank you for keeping us safe and becoming part of our team. Alpine Aviation, what a pleasure to work with and a life saver. North Wright Air, they are the work horse of the MacKenzie Mountains and we could not have made it without them. Everyone was so fun and professional, they earned our business for life. Thank you all. To all the businesses and people who helped us and welcomed us,

THANK YOU SO MUCH!

Sorry if this hunt report sounds like a big thank you letter, but that is exactly what it is. There were and continue to be so many people involved in providing these incredible hunts and without them we couldn't do it.

2017 was wonderful hunting. Great weather and visibility allowed all the hunters and guides to be out and look at lots of great animals and harvest great, old trophies. We were 100% on all species with many tremendous trophies being taken. I have spent 34 years full time in this profession both guiding and outfitting. I feel I've been studying and preparing for this opportunity my whole life. At Raven's Throat, we promise our clients professional guides and crew in every aspect, great equipment, plenty of quality, well prepared food and the most incredible country in North America to hunt. Our effort and desire is second to none. Bottom line, we appreciate and value our clients so much we will do everything humanly possible to provide the highest quality hunting adventure on earth that you will cherish for a lifetime.

Thank you very much for your consideration. We hope we can be of service to you in the future.
